Mr. and Mrs. Orie Schaubach

Where Water Runs Uphill

(A short account of a long trip - by Nellie C. Schaubach) Another trip for the "Orie-Schaubach" this summer to the three maritime provinces of New Brunswick, Canada.

We were accompanied by two of our very good friends, Mrs. D. W. Duncan and her daughter, Virginia. We had a very lovely trip, much more beautiful country and different from last year to Alaska.

We left Crewe on the 12th of July, following Interstate 95 and then Route 1 up through to Boston, Mass. where our first stop included a visit to Mrs. Duncan's son and wife, Lenar and Betty. We spent two days visiting the important spots and shopping at the lovely stores there. The flower glass museum there was most interesting. Leaving there, we still followed 95 up through the New England states and into Canada, going across the ferry into Prince Edward Island, the first of the three islands. Prince Edward Island was most beautiful - with farm and dairy country and the flowers were just lovely.

Then on to New Britain, where Orie went fishing. He caught four beautiful haddock which the four of us enjoyed for several meals.

We also went to the famous Peggy's Cove, a really lovely tourist spot, right on the ocean. At Saint Johns we saw the famous "reverse tide", where water from the Bay of Fundy backs 50 miles up the Saint Johns River and water really runs uphill there. A most unusual sight to see. We saw also, the famous "tidal bore" where water rushes into the Bay of Fundy, rolling in with waves two to three feet high and several hundred feet wide - rolling up river!

On our return we went to Hartland, Canada to see the longest, covered wooden bridge in the world. Built in 1889, the bridge is 1,282 feet long and has already celebrated a 75th anniversary. One elderly gentleman we talked to said that the only thing wrong with the bridge is that the bridge, like this gentleman, himself, had celebrated TOO MANY birthdays. We drove through the covered bridge slowly.

We came south through Pennsylvania, visiting some of our friends and relatives around Lancaster - then went on to Gettysburg, stopping over night with the Davises - long time friends and former residents of Crewe. They gave us a tour of the battle grounds of Gettysburg.

We arrived home Wed., July 28, a little tired and warm -because weather in Nova Scotia was much different - we needed one or two blankets each night for sleeping.

for the new vehicle because of rising steel costs and other factors. Thye told supervisors about plans for a Brunswick stew beginning at 5 p.m. on Sat. Oct. 2 plus an opportunity for prizes through an auxiliary donation drive now underway.

C. S. Booth, administrator for the present subdivision ordinance, brought to the supervisors' meeting table recommendations to change the present definition of a "subdivision."

Upon recommendation of the Town Council, said Booth, plus that of the supervisors, a change in the ordinance will be made. This change will call for a definition of a subdivision to be any parcel of land divided into two or more parcels, rather than the present definition of a division of land into three or more parcels.

The changes in the ordinance call for the administrator to approve all deeds involved with subdividing (parcels of less than 5 acres) and for certain other regulations to be spelled out in particular in the ordinance change. Exceptions to the ordinance ruling would be for a subdivision among close family members.
